Box and Cox (1964) developed the transformation. Estimation of any Box-Cox parameters is by maximum likelihood. Box and Cox (1964) offered an example in which the data had the form of survival times but the underlying biological structure was of hazard rates, and the transformation identified this.

3.2. A basic overlapping-generation Bewley model. The infinite horizon Bewley model does not account for the heterogeneity that arises from the life cycle, which is an important source of heterogeneity in wealth because people typically enter the labor market with little to no assets and then gradually accumulate them, at least until retirement age.
